

A METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR MANAGING A DIRECTORY WITH A TEMPLATE

ABSTRACT

A system of managing a directory with templates. A template file is created containing various structure templates. The templates entries may then be loaded into the directory or be read directly from the file by users. The templates provide structure information to users of the directory, and allow an administrator to more easily configure part or all of the directory.

TUTORIAL - 4 EDITION